FINAL CONFLICT

FC is produced every three months to offer people a change from the bland nonsense put out by the New World Order.

We publish serious and humorous material - so if you can't think for yourself, or take a joke: go and read 'Reaction Monthly'.

FC is an independent magazine, though editorially it supports the Third Position. Material printed doesn't necessarily reflect the view of FC or the TP. We're just a magazine trying to inform Nationalist bods.

© FC, Spring 98 is a 'ZogBuster' production.

FINAL CONFLICT

WELCOME TO issue 18 of FC, the best Nationalist magazine in the WHOLE WORLD - even better than last issue!

What is Nationalism? That is the million dollar question. It means many things to many men. Our column 'Teach Yourself Nationalism' (see past FCs) touched on the ideological basics of Nationalism.

Of course many people slate Nationalism for being a dictatorial, top-heavy, Statist ideology. Personally, I think nothing could be further from the truth.

Nationalism is all about individual freedom. Each man being able to own his own property (home and land). Each man being able to have his own business or be a part of a co-operative. Each man having a direct role in the day to day affairs of local decision making. Each man having the right to bear arms in local militias. And most importantly - to my mind - each man having the right not to be bled dry by usurious banks or a State that is a slave to the banks.

That is real freedom. That is real Nationalism. It boils down to one single word: Distributism. Each FC reader would do well to read the various works that deal with Distributism and socio-economics that FC sells (Distributism, The Alternative, Economics for Helen, TP Reader, The Guild Alternative, etc.). Then let any try and claim that Nationalism is all about a Big Brother State!

Our enemies - left and right - who 'accuse' us of such things clearly either know nothing or have a vested interest in spreading disinformation.

Of course, those who go beyond the pale and join the army of dysfunctional robots, who trot like lemmings to the cliff in their effort to be 'different', claim that because we espouse strong moral values and will outlaw abortion, homosexuality, usury etc. that "we are against personal freedom". Nonsense.

People need power, wealth and arms to be truly free. This they will have. People don't need the "right" to kill their children, to practise buggery, to vivisection animals or to be bled dry by banks to be free. These things bring slavery, anarchy, amorality and destruction - not freedom.

Those who want an all-powerful State are the tools of Freemasons ('left' and 'right'). Their 'New World Order', or World Government', with its World Bank, is the ultimate Big Brother.

Of course, at the moment, our people are "free" to choose which degenerate "lifestyle" to follow, or which bank to take a loan or mortgage from, or which abortuary to kill their children at - such is our wonderful 'free market economy'.

But come the day when we gain real freedom, then our enemies will squeal in terror. For what they fear the most, are the peoples of Europe having true freedom and the Zionist bankers and bureaucrats losing their power over us.

Now that's what I call Freedom!

FROM THE NEWS DESK

FC HITS THE AIRWAVES!

TEXTS FROM the FC daily e-mail newsletter are being broadcast in the NW of the United States by a patriotic radio station! Free Radio NLNR broadcasts in the Seattle area, hitting 99% of Seattle and many surrounding areas. It goes out for 20 hours a day.

The FC texts will go out on NLNR between 12 Midday and 15:00. The news show is re-run from 18:00 hours. Other programmes include 'classic rock', talk shows and 'old time' radio shows from the 30's, 40's, 50's and 60's.

NLNR is run commercial-free, so there can be no pressure from advertisers as is so often the case in big media concerns (e.g. Jewish Spectrum Radio recently hosted a caller who asked their listeners who were advertisers to boycott the London Evening Standard for an editorial that was critical of Israel).

NLNR began when its operator was black-listed as a DJ/announcer in the Seattle area because of his political views.

The emergence of small, locally based radio stations is a pain to the powers-that-be who like folk to listen-in to 'controlled' broadcasts which, for example, tend to be less critical of homosexuality, abortion, Zionism, US military affairs overseas etc.

As the New World Order's arrogance increases, let's hope more 'alternative' media springs forward. We'll keep you posted on such events.

Readers based in Seattle can listen in to NLNR on 101.9 FM. Yet again, whilst others talk about it, FC is doing it! And so the Counter Power spreads...

CIA N GUNS - FOR A RADIO STATION?

Running a Nationalist radio station isn't always a bag of laughs. Doug Brewer ran a pirate radio station in Florida. At 6.30 one morning his front door was kicked in by police. Here's how the St. Petersburg Times put it: "But it wasn't drugs or guns the agents seized. It was radio equipment -- the microphones, headsets and low-power transmitters that until Wednesday had broadcast the alternative rock and don't-tread-on-me attitude of 102.1-FM, 'Tampa's Party Pirate.' U.S. Customs, FDLE, U.S. Marshals, Temple Terrace police, and (believe it or not) the CIA were involved in the 'Federal Communications Commission' raid. Anyone would think they were after Saddam Hussein - not a 43 year-old DJ!

Back to The St. Petersburg Times: "Marshals also seized equipment from two other unlicensed 'pirate radio' stations in Hillsborough County -- an eclectic rock station at 87.9-FM and a 96.7-FM station with a far-right edge to its programming."

The US Federal Govt. is clearly very worried about these radio stations, as they remain outside their control. Of course, not all are Nationalist - but as the NWO tightens its grip, more are highly critical of the Federal agenda. Who knows... it could happen here.

FC LAUNCHES ITS OWN WEB-SITE!

THE FC WEB-SITE is at: <http://dspace.dial.pipex.com/finalconflict/> There are loads of articles, archives of the FC e-zine, links, merchandise - and lots more...

THE FC 2000 FUND

THANKS TO SOME fantastic donations to the FC 2000 Fund, we've been able to launch our own, separate web-site, something we've wanted to do for a long time. This will free up a lot of space on the Third Position site and enable us to do a lot more on both sites.

We still need more donations, if we are to continue to blaze a trail for Revolutionary Nationalism - so send in what you can, even if it's an extra fiver or tenner on an order... Let's give a big push and see if we can hit the £1,000 mark by next issue!

STICKERS R US

A new range of TP stickers has just come out. A good sign is the number of regional designs. Also out is a poster version of The Voice of St. George by Birmingham militants. For samples send a large SAE into us at FC.

ANTI-ABORTION

Crusaders for the Unborn is a new politically independent anti-abortion grouping that believes in militancy to save the unborn. They've organised pickets outside abortuaries all over England. Drop them a line if you and others can help: Crusaders, PO Box 11, Manchester, M40 5JQ. E-mail: Northernway@compuserve.com.

TAKING TO THE STREETS

TP militants have been busy spreading the word across England, holding activities, targetting key areas, winning new recruits to the militant structure. Now's the time for you to take the plunge and join the struggle as an activist... Drop FC a line for details.

RACE RIOTS

As we go to print, the worst Asian on White Racial violence has broken out in Oldham, Lancs. TP militants formed an instant response group to rally the White community - with excellent results. See TVOSG #11 for details.

IRAQ: NO WAR FOR ISRAELI INTERESTS!

FC GOES SLOVAK

Interviews with FC have been printed in two fanzines in Slovakia. Nationalist fanzines are an 'underground' press right throughout Europe. Whereas anarchist rags appear on newsstands - these fanzines are the real anti-establishment alternative.

ALL AROUND THE WORLD . . .

SPIELBERG IS A NAZI!

IT'S OFFICIAL! Steven Spielberg - Arch-Zionist and luvvy of the holocaust™ promoters - is nothing but an evil anti-Semite. Yes! It must be true! The quasi-terrorist Israel-backed, Jewish Defence League (JDL) says so.

JDL National Chairman Irv Rubin said he is shocked and dismayed that a popular children's animated series is running a blatantly anti-Semitic cartoon. What is ironic, says Rubin, is the executive producer of the series is none other than Steven Spielberg, award-winning director of Schindler's List.

The offending cartoon appeared on an episode of The Animaniacs, an animated series still in production at Warner Bros. It features the character Slappy Squirrel and her antagonist Walter Wolf, an animal that is portrayed with a Jewish accent and uses Yiddish words. The "Jewish" wolf preys upon Slappy and her nephew, Skippy, and lies about his antics on a witness stand.

"The man who did so much for remembering the horrors of the Holocaust is allowing a new generation of children to associate Jews with hate and deceit," said Rubin. "I will be contacting Steven Spielberg to ask him (threat or favour - Ed) to withdraw this particular cartoon from the series' rotation."

There we go then. A cartoon is 'cleaned up' and the goyim cattle can go on being taught that Irv's heroes are Saints and that all White people are horrible. Shmucks.

ANOTHER HESS?

Captain Erich Priebke's (the SS-man and German war hero accused of shooting 'innocent' civilians) sentence has been extended to life in prison.

Currently under house arrest, until his next court appearance, Priebke had been tried and given a sentence which was about to be completed. He was scheduled for release this year. Now it looks as though he will remain, for the rest of his life, in an Italian dungeon.

This is all the more astounding when one considers the background to these events. All his superiors - who surely would be responsible for the passing of any unjust orders for an execution? - were acquitted by trial. This occurred shortly after WW2.

Priebke's first trial was very much a show trial, with huge pressure being exerted by the vociferous Jewish community in Rome.

He was released after this first trial, but Jewish activists seized the court so that he couldn't get out. This resulted in a false warrant being issued by the Italian authorities, based on a fictitious 'extradition request' from Germany - all to keep in jail Captain Priebke and his co-defendant Mr Haas - the eldest prisoners in Italy.

Did anyone say Zionist conspiracy?

HATE-MONGERS FACE TRIAL IN CANADA

In Canada, Malcolm Ross and Eileen Pressler are following a precedent that's been established in other countries (See 'All Around the World' last issue) by taking the real pedlars of hate to court.

Pressler's target is David Lethbridge who is an old fashioned Jewish Stalinist who stood for the Communist Party in 1997. In 1993, this scum bag put out a completely fabricated news report on CHBC TV portraying the Presslers' retirement farm as a Waco-style fortress with bunkers etc. This report was repeated on CBC Worldwide and so the Presslers faced untold pressure, just because a reporter disliked their views.

New Brunswick school teacher Malcolm Ross has long been the subject of filthy cartoons by one Josh Beutel. One shows Ross with a pencil in his backside. Beutel falsely accused Ross of spreading Nazi ideology in the classroom (before he was fired).

Whatever the outcome of the court cases, the real pedlars of hate should take notice that people are fed up of being defamed and slandered and will fight back; and that fight back is spreading throughout the world...

ONE WOMAN'S SACRIFICE

JOAN ANDREWS is a name known to many anti-abortion activists. She has partaken in 'Rescues' at abortuaries in America - especially 'smash and trash' activities, where militants enter the death centres and attack the machinery used in abortions.

When she was sentenced to five years in jail, on the same day, in the same courtroom, the same judge sentenced two accessories to murder to four years imprisonment.

Where is justice?

Joan has been in and out of prison. In 1989 she took part in a picket in Manchester in support of Maurice Lewis who was being held in Strangeways prison - without being convicted of any crime, because he would not give an undertaking that he would stay away from abortuaries.

Joan is now back in jail for a term of 23 months, but as she cannot agree to the probation (three years supervised), she will remain in jail indefinitely.

The judge offered her probation instead of a sentence if she agreed to stop 'rescuing', thus forcing her to choose between her own children and the unborn. Her conscience would not let her abandon the innocents being killed and so she was sent to prison. The authorities are keeping her in a psychiatric ward, as they cannot comprehend her non-cooperation.

Whilst in prison, Joan has been forcibly stripped, molested and spent over two years in solitary confinement.

Anti-abortion groups are organising pickets outside the American embassy in London. For detail, get in touch with FC and we'll pass on times etc. as well as info on pickets outside abortuaries around the country.

ITALIAN ANTI-ABORTION DEMO BANNED

An anti-abortion demonstration in Milan by the Italian TP movement Forza Nuova was banned by the police as a "threat to public order". FN organised another demo for the following month. They also organised a demonstration in the southern town of Bari. FN is now organised in 30 Italian cities and towns.

For a copy of FN's 'Foglia di Lotta' street paper - send two first class stamps into FC.

NPD ON THE RISE AS 6,500 NATIONAL REVOLUTIONARIES MARCH IN GERMANY

ON SATURDAY the 7th of February 6,500 National Revolutionaries marched through the streets of Passau, in the former 'East Germany'. This was despite the police turning coaches away and Communist/Anarchist attacks stopping others from getting through (another example of State and so-called "anti State" forces co-operating to try and stop the onward march of Nationalism).

The march was organised by the Third Positionist NPD. Udo Voigt, NPD President, stated that "the NPD is no longer just a national party, it is a party with a cosmo-vision". He also imposed a 500 Deutsch Mark "defamation tax" to the members of the occupied media who wanted to cover the event.

What this march shows is that Nationalists don't have to compromise with the enemy or become "respectable" to win victories. Now is the time for us to build the Third Position in England so we too can take back our streets from the enemy.

BOADICEA MUSIC PRESENTS: THE VERY BEST OF CARL KLANG!

"EXTREMIST"

AT LONG LAST Carl Klang's music has hit the shores of Europe - with a vengeance. Boadicea Music has released "EXTREMIST" to spearhead this beneficent invasion.

The CD takes some of the best tracks from Carl Klang's six previous recordings, and one totally new track - ROCK THEM IN THEIR IVORY TOWERS - to make a total of 72 minutes of blistering Nationalist anthems, all on one CD!

THE BEST

This CD presents some of the best Nationalist music ever recorded and it is literally crammed onto one CD to present you with the best value for money ever!

The 17 corking tracks are:

1. Blinded by the Lies
2. All is Fair in Love and War (Ode to Gordon Kahl)
3. Wheresoever Eagles Gather (The Ballad of Randy Weaver)
4. We Want This Country Back
5. Peacekeeping Forces
6. Evil, Filthy, Rotten Conspiracy
7. I am the Unknown Soldier
8. Why the Banksters Keep us Dumb
9. Seventeen Little Children
10. Hang 'em High
11. We Ain't Gonna Fight for the New World Order
12. There Ain't no Skeletons in Jesus' Closet
13. I'm the Re-sister
14. The News Behind the News
15. Don't go Castin' Your Pearls (Before Swine)
16. Rock Them in Their Ivory Towers
17. It's Not Over Until we Win

As all these bobby dazzlers are on one CD, we've managed to keep the retail price down to just £11.

THE INTERVIEW

Those of you who read the interview with Carl Klang in FC #14/15 (and the rave reviews of his tapes in the same issue) will know what to expect from this CD: 72 minutes of excellently

"I view myself as a watchman... called to awaken my country men to impending national peril"
- Carl Klang, FC #14/15.

crafted Nationalist songs that will make you weep, reflect, laugh and, perhaps most importantly, think. Carl Klang has that ability to approach any subject in verse and produce a fine song into the bargain.

Only recently the journal 'National Freedom' reviewed Carl's work and could hardly bring itself to stop heaping praise on America's number one Nationalist balladeer.

By releasing this CD, Boadicea Music is hoping not only to introduce Carl Klang to a wider European audience, but also to bring a new

"They may call us "extremists," hoping to shame us all back into the muck and mire of induced complacency, but to me, the release of this new CD signifies the re-formation of an irrepressible power in the world, that being the spiritual, emotional and racial identity of Nationalism. May it divinely soar and sing world wide."

- Carl Klang, March '98.

seam of Nationalist music to the English speaking world.

FOLK MUSIC

In Italy there is a wealth of Nationalist folk music available, as well as the skinhead and heavy music. Perhaps the best known of these artists, to us, is Massimo Morsello (again, see FC #14/15). By releasing Carl Klang's CD it is hoped to provide the impetus for more folk and 'easy listening' musicians and bands to come to the fore, for English speakers in Europe.

"Let's face it, as long as the Zionist International controls the world's media, any artists who has a nationalist, patriotic message will be either snidely ignored or viciously attacked in print."
- Carl Klang, FC #14/15.

So, do your bit to help the movement diversify its musical appeal. By buying the Carl Klang CD you will also be letting yourself in for a treat you won't regret. We can promise you that this CD will be in your hi-fi more often than that Fat Bloke is in the biscuit barrel searching out the bourbons when he comes to visit.

Carl Klang's music is appreciated by all - from 2 to 92 years old! It is an excellent way to win over more people to Nationalism and listening to it is an excellent form of relaxation for Nationalists themselves.

"EXTREMIST"

CARL KLANG's first European release, this CD features 72 minutes of his very finest material from his first six albums, plus one totally new song.

For your copy, send £11 to: BOADICEA MUSIC, BCM 6358, LONDON, WC1N 3XX, ENGLAND. Cheques etc. to 'Boadicea Music'. Bulk rates are available on request.

DRACULA WAS A GOOD GUY!

Most people believe - as they have been taught - that Dracula was a bloodthirsty 'vampire' from Transylvania. This Hollywood horror fairy tale is not true, or it is at least comparable with another fairy tale closer to our times: the total demonisation of Adolf Hitler. Here we offer you the true story of Prince Vlad Dracula the Impaler, Orthodox Christian Crusader of the 15th Century.

FACING THE TURKISH THREAT

Mahomed II entered history as an extremely ambitious Sultan. His two main goals were to conquer Central Europe and Constantinople. In order to fulfil his plans he had to occupy Belgrade - the gateway to Central Europe. Thus the Orthodox Romanian Medieval States and the Catholic Hungarian Kingdom became the direct targets of Mahomed II. Amidst the peoples, the idea of a Crusade grows, an idea which will be accomplished by Iancu Corvin of Hunedoara, Vlad Dracula the Impaler and St. Stephen the Great.

Iancu Corvin of Hunedoara was a Romanian Catholic military Lord in South-West Transylvania. He also had the jurisdiction of Southern Banat, on the Danube across which the Ottoman threat was coming. In 1440, after the Hungarian King dies, Iancu Corvin helped the application of the Polish King Vladislav III for the Hungarian Crown. After the nomination of the new King in Budapest, Iancu Corvin was named Prince of Transylvania, in 1441. From that moment he started the project of the Crusade, mainly on two fields:

1. By strengthening the military inside Transylvania, working mostly on the middle class;
2. By helping his Romanian Orthodox friends to get into power in Wallachia and Moldavia - across the Carpathians.

His first great victory upon the Turks took place in Serbia in 1441. By surprise, in 1442, the Turks attack Transylvania. After the first Ottoman victory, the Christians re-grouped quickly and struck back at the invader's army so harshly that they succeed in killing the Muslim leader together with his son. The dismantled Turkish army ran away Southwards into Wallachia. Iancu followed them, beat them and named Basarab II as Prince of Wallachia. In 1442, two more battles followed in Transylvania and Wallachia; on almost the same frame. Iancu's victories impressed Europe.

Poland, Venice, Burgundy and Aragon planned a new Crusade under the rule of Iancu. Trusting the help promised by these countries, he began a long campaign into Serbia and Bulgaria, aiming to free Adrianople and thus to break the siege of Constantinople. But from Europe, only promises came: the material help was too weak. On his own, he fought the Sultan, forcing him to ask for a 10 year peace (the Treaty of Szeged, July 1442). The military preparations didn't cease. The Pope insisted on an attack and the Venician fleet set sail for Byzantium. In this new campaign, Iancu commanded the armies of Transylvania, Croatia, Bosnia and also Wallachia - the last one under the command of Vlad Dracul (the father of Vlad Dracula the Impaler. 'Dracul' was the Romanian for 'Dragon'; Vlad Dracul gained, as a soldier, a German Order of the Dragon; 'Dracula' or 'Draculea' means in Romanian 'Son of Dracul'. This, in short, is the ethimological origin of the name 'Dracula'). In Bulgaria, near Varna, a great battle took place in which the Hungarian King was killed. In 1446, Iancu Corvin of Hunedoara became Governor of Hungary. From this new position he developed strong alliances with Moldavia and Wallachia, shaping a common military defence system. He also established good contacts with Skanderbeg, the leader of the Albanians. In 1448, he fought the Turks at Kossovopolje (in Kosovo); the battle was lost because of treason. Soon afterwards, Iancu placed Bogdan

BRAN CASTLE IN TRANSYLVANIA

II (the father of St. Stephen the Great) in power on the Moldavian Throne. In 1453, Mahomed II conquered Constantinople. In reply, Iancu fortified the Danube line and strengthened the Carpathian system of alliances. In 1456, Iancu of Hunedoara installed Vlad Dracula the Impaler on the Throne of Wallachia; immediately he supported the crowning of St. Stephen the Great in Moldavia. Looking to stop the Turks in the battle for Belgrade, Iancu formed an army of 30,000 men from Romania, Hungary, Poland, Czech, Germany etc. With this force he crushed the Muslims in a bloodbath. Even Mahomed II was wounded in the battle. While Europe was celebrating, Iancu died of pest in the military camp of Zemun, Serbia, on November 11, 1456. His body was laid to rest in peace in the Catholic Cathedral of Alba Iulia - in the heart of Transylvania, amongst the people he ruled and commanded in battles for Christendom.

VLAD DRACULA CONTINUES THE STRUGGLE

The political and military program of Iancu Corvin of Hunedoara was continued by Vlad Dracula the Impaler of Wallachia and by St. Stephen the Great of Moldavia.

Vlad Dracula's extremely large European popularity was mainly due to his strong personality, to his authoritarian spirit and certainly to his unmerciful attitude toward all sorts of enemy. It was mostly the German stories that made his image as cruel as possible: merciless and bloodthirsty. That was in order to explain the hostile attitude of Matthew Corvin (son of Iancu and King of Hungary) who stopped the military campaigns of his father and imprisoned Vlad Dracula for ten years in Budapest. Under his political influence, the stories of Dracula entered more and more into the realms of fantasy, leaving the line of historical truth. But if we study historical documents (and not fantasy tales) we will discover interesting facts about Dracula: he was authoritarian, hard with the class of landlords, with an intense sense of justice, applying dreadful penalties for thieves and traitors, and also a courageous Crusader.

He encouraged honest commerce with the German cities of Transylvania: Kronstadt-Brasov and Hermannstadt-Sibiu. But every attempt at cheating or stealing was punished with abominable death penalties: impaling causes a slow and painful death. Most of his faithful men were from Transylvania and Moldavia, the landlords of Wallachia were uncomfortable with such a correct ruler over their head and they did not cease to plot against him. In reply, Dracula continued to slaughter them, one by one. He developed a new class of Knights from the faithful knights to whom he gave the lands and castles of the killed Wallachian traitors.

Following the European policy of Iancu Corvin, Vlad Dracula helped Stephen to get on the Moldavian Throne and developed many hostile actions against the Turks. The Muslims intended to trap him in an ambush at Giurgiu on the Danube (south of today's Bucharest). Dracula, even with smaller forces, defeated the Muslim army; took all the prisoners, including Hamza Beg (their leader), to the Wallachian capital Targoviste, and impaled them there. For Hamza Beg he reserved the longest pole. In the winter 1461-'62, Dracula crossed the frozen Danube into present-day Bulgaria, causing great damage in the Turkish ranks and liberating a large area on the Danube's banks. In response, Mahomed II attacked Wallachia in the Spring with a huge army. He chose to command the repressions on the field, to personally punish Vlad Dracula. The Sultan even brought with him a pretender to the Wallachian Throne: Radu the Handsome - the traitor brother of Dracula. With a small army of 22,000, in the night of July 16-17, 1462, near Targoviste, Dracula launched a night strike against the Ottoman camp. He entered the enemy camp with 7,000 troopers, looking for the Sultan's tent. Dracula wanted to kill Mahomed with his own hands. The panic was so great that the Muslims started to fight each other. In the morning the rays of the Sun showed the disaster caused by Dracula's strike. But the victory could not be well exploited on the political field because of the Wallachian landlords who preferred Radu the Handsome, betraying Dracula. On the other side, Matthew Corvin of Hungary, who received many supplies from Europe, delayed his military intervention in the support of Dracula (Matthew did not really want a military conflict with the Muslims). So, Dracula was forced to retreat over the Carpathians into Transylvania and wait for Matthew's support. An intrigue set up by the Wallachian traitors made Matthew imprison Dracula for more than ten years in Budapest. The Hungarian King genuinely believed the fake letter in which Dracula "plotted" with the Sultan against Hungary. This fact largely contributed to discredit his image in Europe. In the autumn of 1476, forced by St. Stephen the Great, Matthew came to his senses and liberated Dracula, finally understanding that he is the right person for the anti-Ottoman campaigns in the South. Back on his Throne again, Dracula ruled for only two months. The Wallachian landlords assassinated him as a result of the plots carried out by Laiota Basarab together with the Turks.

Thus ended the life of Vlad Dracula the Impaler, a life dedicated to the armed struggle for the Cross, to the continuous policy of defending Europe against the Muslim invaders, for the independence of his country and nation. His very close friend, St. Stephen the Great of Moldavia, qualified by the Pope as 'Athlaeta Christi', succeeded after more than half of Century of continued rule over Moldavia to bring glamour to the Crusader spirit of Iancu Corvin of Hunedoara and Vlad Dracula of Wallachia.

May God Bless their spirits!

VISIT THE LAND OF DRACULA!

THE THIRD POSITION in England has got together with our Legionary Comrades in Romania and organised holidays in Transylvania for Nationalists and non-Nationalists alike.

On arrival, all your transport, food and accommodation will be taken care of. You will stay in professional guest houses and peoples' homes with all the facilities you would expect.

If you are interested in helping the Movement by holidaying in Transylvania, drop a line to us at FC today. We will send you details of how, where and when your holiday can happen.

Help the Counter Power - have a great holiday!

BALLAD OF THE GOODLY FERÉ

by Ezra Pound

Ha' we lost the goodliest fere o' all
For the priests and the gallows tree?
Aye lover he was of brawny men,
O' ships and the open sea.
When they came wi' a host to take Our Man
His smile was good to see,
"First let these go!" quo' our Goodly Fere,
"Or I'll see ye damned," says he.
Aye he sent us out through the crossed high spears
And the scorn of his laugh rang free,
"Why took ye not me when I walked about Alone in the town?" says he.
Oh we drank his "Hale" in the good red wine
When we last made company,
No capon priest was the Goodly Fere
But a man o' men was he.
I ha' seen him drive a hundred men
Wi' a bundle o' cords swung free,
That they took the high and holy house
For their pawn and treasury.
They'll no' get him a' in a book I think
Though they write it cunningly;
No mouse of the scrolls was the Goodly Fere
But aye loved the open sea.
If they think they ha' snared our Goodly Fere
They are fools to the last degree.
"I'll go to the feast," quo' our Goodly Fere,
"Though I go to the gallows tree."
"Ye ha' seen me heal the lame and blind,
And wake the dead," says he,
"Ye shall see one thing to master all:
'Tis how a brave man dies on the tree."
A son of God was the Goodly Fere
That bade us his brothers be.
I ha' seen him cow a thousand men.
I have seen him upon the tree.
He cried no cry when they drave the nails
And the blood gushed hot and free,
The hounds of the crimson sky gave tongue
But never a cry cried he.
I ha' seen him cow a thousand men
On the hills o' Galilee,
They whined as he walked out calm between,
Wi' his eyes like the grey o' the sea,
Like the sea that brooks no voyaging
With the winds unleashed and free,
Like the sea that he cowed at Genseret
Wi' tvey words spoke' suddenly.
A master of men was the Goodly Fere,
A mate of the wind and sea,
If they think they ha' slain our Goodly Fere
They are fools eternally.
I ha' seen him eat o' the honey-comb
Sin' they nailed him to the tree.

(Fere = Mate, Companion).

IS THERE INTELLIGENT LIFE ON EARTH?

Subheaded : Flying saucers only exist in the minds of misguided conspiracy theorists.

Now, before umpteen level-headed FC readers fly into palpitations, we haven't gone all New Age nor are we treading the road to the land of the anoraks. This following article was written by a reader and presents some vital points, especially as a book written in France equates those who "witness" UFOs and who are "abducted" by 'ET's to demonic possessions.

One thing is clear: alien life forms on other planets would serve the interests of the One World brigade who would advance the 'Brotherhood of Man' ideal (against the grey nasties) and also "prove" that God doesn't exist.

The fact that people believe what they're told to believe in these days of mass media (as compared to what their hearts told them in ye olde days gone bye) is evident enough with the mass hysteria following the death of the Princess of Wales. A manipulative pro-homosexual and Race-mixing adulteress (whether or not cast aside by the Royal Family), was turned into a 'saint who had walked amongst us', eulogised by St. Elton John of Homosexuals.

And so the masses are wielded, on occasion, by our enemies...

IS THERE INTELLIGENT LIFE ON EARTH?

Some people seem to have a consciousness like a vacuum cleaner, sucking in every strange idea they come across. Another, similar set of people have an obsessive compulsion to believe the absurd, adopting any theory that cannot be disproved*. Here's one: the Earth is made of green cheese. Ah, you say, all one has to do is sink a bore to show that it was earth and rock. But then the claim is modified so that only part of the Earth's centre is made of green cheese, or that the green cheese was scattered around in small lumps or hidden away in particularly inaccessible places. Soon a theory exists which cannot be disproved, because to do so would require testing every cubic centimetre of the Earth's core before being able to categorically state that none of it was green cheese.

Of course, the composition of the inner Earth is investigated using seismic waves, especially during earthquakes, but then the compulsive believer might merely retort that it was especially dense green cheese and not your common-or-garden Brie or Stilton.

This process can be extended ad infinitum so that opinion degenerates into the simple matter of believing what you want to believe and ignoring anything else. This is the statement, rarely made explicitly, 'Don't confuse me with facts.' (Nationalists will be familiar with this philosophy.) Into this category one can include horoscopes and the other forms of mumbo-jumbo which has become unhealthily popular in recent years. Here we shall discuss claims of visits to Earth by beings from other worlds.

First of all, it's obvious that UFO's exist: everyone knows that UFO stands for an unidentified flying object, so that anything which cannot immediately be accounted for, like a box of matches flying across the other side of the room, a meteorite or an unscheduled aircraft is a UFO. To distinguish between little green monsters from outer space and more mundane explanations we shall denote our supposed extra-terrestrial visitors ETFO's. It is claimed that government agencies are conspiring to suppress information about ETFO's.

LIGHT YEARS

Probably the biggest obstacle to the physical presence of ETFO's is the sheer time required to travel the enormous distances between solar systems. We can see that the planets in our own solar system are uninhabited, or at least any life-forms inhabiting them have made no visible attempts to modify their environment, as we have. Even so, it takes radio waves some minutes to travel these comparatively short distances and months for space probes to reach our closest neighbouring planets. When we look at the stars we are watching history; the rays we see left the surface of some of the more distant galaxies many millions of years ago. Our nearest star, Rigil Kentaurus, is 4.3 light-years away but a more typical sun might be Betelgeuse which is 520 light-years away. Thus a spacecraft travelling at 675 million miles per hour (1080,000,000 km/h), the speed of light, coming to Earth from the vicinity of Betelgeuse would take 520 years to get here. To travel between galaxies would require a method of propulsion many times faster than light-speed in order to arrive in a feasible time. Thus it is safe to assume that any civilization which was capable of mounting such an expedition would be an advanced one, because the voyage requires solving the problem of time-travel. This brings us to the reason why people want to believe in flying saucers.

Humans need something to look up to and have faith in: one

Since material like the infamous Roswell autopsies was publicised, most sightings have conformed to the 'grey big-eyed' aliens. Gone are the "little green men". A sign of manipulation of the masses?

THOSE OF YOU who have read 'The Hitch Hiker's Guide to the Galaxy' by Douglas Adams will recall that the reason the fictitious Guide sold so well, was because it had the words 'DON'T PANIC' on its cover... But as we enter the age of space exploration and ever more intricate science fiction films, the "discovery" of alien life forms could send people into a blind panic, promote disbelief in God and provide a handy excuse for increased spending on all sorts of global weapons (remember the billions Reagan spent on 'Star Wars' - and that was only against the Russians). We all know the people behind the big arms companies - the sort of people who kept the Vietnam War going. If anyone can get alien life "found", it'll be them!

famous preacher talked about people having "a God-shaped hole." We need not enter here into the debate as to whether this proves that God made Man or the other way around, but it is evident that humans are religious creatures. One can deny God but not the concept of God because the notion, at least, is alive and strong in a great number of people. The new religion for the common man is Holocaustianity. This modern religion doesn't have a God so a void remains to be filled. The promotion of ETFO's in the mass media and the disproportionate, irrational attention given to them by the admass (that part of the population which is susceptible to media manipulation) is really just closet messianism.

WHAT SORT OF GOD?

It's no good having a God who is just "one of the lads." What awe can such a God inspire? The best God, of course, is omniscient, omnipotent, unique and forgiving. Anything mortal simply won't do - even the gook that might ooze, slide, leap or fly from the spaceship when it eventually lands. Whenever an advanced civilization meets a markedly less developed one the result is usually a profound loss of self-esteem in the inferior culture. This is what happened when Europeans came into contact with Aboriginal and Red Indian societies and both these cultures are now notorious for social problems like alcoholism. Another interesting example was the native Tasmanians, who are now extinct. It has even been stated (incorrectly, by an American Nationalist) that "the only true case of genocide was of the Tasmanians by the British." For the Tasmanians contact with a higher culture was fatal: their birthrate plummeted and they simply petered out, despite repeated attempts, documented in Darwin's Descent of Man, to prevent it. The Tasmanians' racial pride was both essential and irreparably damaged; this is confirmed by their practice of killing their half-castes usually, but not always, at birth. The result for us of contact with an advanced civilization would be a crisis at the very least. Any superior civilization, certainly one capable of overcoming the difficulties of space travel already detailed, would realise that revealing themselves would be the worst thing they could do to us bar invasion

'BALANCE OF PROBABILITY'

The milder, marginally more rational form of space religion does not claim that alien life-forms definitely exist, only that their existence is very likely. The argument relies on a 'balance of probability' but the assessment is based on a series of speculative suppositions.

Firstly we suppose that space is infinitely big, then that the universe is expanding. So something infinitely big is getting bigger! It is assumed that it contains an infinite number of planets, but in fact very few have been detected; all we actually see is stars. Therefore, the argument goes, there must be at least one other planet besides our own which contains an advanced form of life. But this assessment of probability is based on a sample of only one, our own isolated planet in a single solar system.

Our Sun is a type G2 (V) star and of the 286 brightest stars only three are G2-type. It's rather like the hypothesis that if you put a million monkeys in front of a typewriter then sooner or later one will produce a work of Shakespeare (it's said that the internet has disproved this theory).

SAILING SHIPS

Sailing ships were claimed to have been seen in the sky 200 years ago because that generation of anti-scientific believers then imagined that aliens would come in such ships, blown here by astral winds from the sun and stars. Perhaps a useful strategy when meeting a determined believer in alien abductions and the like is to counter with the Creationist thesis, that God made the world in six days, and any evidence to the contrary is merely God's way of testing us. Chesterton talked about "the folly that people believed in when they stop believing in God." **

There are far more tangible and pressing things to worry about and distraction from these problems is the real purpose of the current wave of Jewish-Hollywood fodder on this and similar themes. If Jews create religious concepts as other cultures produce popular music then every now and again there is bound to be a hit. Some conspiracy hunters will accept any crackpot theory but the real one, which is actually staring them in the face, is taboo.

* Or, in the case of certain Zionist 'anti-fascist' magazines - even "fascist conspiracies" involving everyone from the Vatican to SS veterans that can!

 The actual quote is: "When a man stops believing in God, he doesn't believe in nothing. He believes in anything."

FOR THE BRITISH FAMILY OF NATIONS!

Once upon a time Britain was a great Nation... or so the story goes.

In fact Britain was never a great Nation, rather it was a collection of Nations all jumbled together to form 'the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland'. A more precise statement would be 'Britain was once a powerful State'. That some people should feel some affinity to or longing for this past power is understandable - but this is the realm of the politician. Such power never benefited the 'citizens' of the State (read 'working class people') only a few bankers, politicians and merchants.

THE BRITISH STATE

This State was/is the same State that forced our forefathers into factories or down pits to make money for private companies; the same State that's been tied to big business and Freemasonry virtually right from the start.

The State - or the Westminster regime - has never cared for the peoples of these islands.

There has never been an apology to all the descendants of the Englishmen, women and children forced into virtual slave labour for the Capitalist overlords. The days of the factory shop with wood shavings in the bread aren't that long ago.

The Welsh were ruled by force for years and had to bear the humiliation of 'the Welsh Knot' (any child found speaking Welsh in school would be forced to wear the knot - he could pass it on if he found someone else speaking Welsh and the child wearing it at the end of the day would be in big trouble...) as their language was forced from the land.

The Scots were a proud people and were only finally subdued by the terrible Highland clearances forced on them by their Clan chiefs, but in reality forced through by the same breed of spineless politicians we see today.

And what of the Irish? Those poor people forced into exile by the potato famine and who were offered no help by 'their' government in Westminster as they died in their tens of thousands.

THE ENGLISH

And dare we think that those who have shown loyalty to this accursed regime in Westminster have fared any differently?

They have treated the people of England - that land in which the parliament sits - as little more than pawns in their game of money making and power brokering. The soldiers used in wars against their neighbours and then left pensionless or hanging from a tree for failing to shoot on an unarmed citizen. Those forced to steal to make ends meet, once the land had been 'enclosed' by greedy landlords and the monasteries closed that used to feed and clothe the poor, were jailed, hung or transported... And even those 'loyal' to the Westminster State from outside England (such as the Argyll militias in the Jacobite rising of 1745) were regarded as little more than animal hordes to be used and cast aside.

Even today we see the Unionists in Northern Ireland - those who want to stay a part of the 'United Kingdom' being "sold out" by the same State they so strongly desire to remain a part of, as no power, Churchill - the great British patriot and his infamous (occultist) salute.

prestige or profit is to be gained from retaining Northern Ireland in the Union. (The Westminster State has even ordered its army and police to fire upon its subjects in recent times - remember Keith White, murdered by a plastic bullet, fired by the Royal Ulster Constabulary in the 1980s.)

NATIONAL BANNERS

This State waves the Union Flag - a concoction of three Christian National banners (with no recognition for the National rights of Wales, with it's Cross of St. David) - as a "national symbol" to promote its citizens to fight on its behalf.

This flag is not - and never has been - the flag of the people. It is the flag of the State, and for many years the flag of a Zionist State at that! It has existed for far less time than the individual national flags of these British Nations - flags with great histories and proud traditions.

The Cross of St. George, which flew proudly over 'Merrie England' before the advent of the Bank of England and Capitalism, or the Red Dragon - a flag that the Welsh have fought under for hundreds of years (some claim it to be the oldest European flag still in use). Or the Scottish Rampant Lion, the standard of the ancient Kings of Scotland.

DIVISIVE?

"But division is wrong" cries the 'Westminster Patriot' "We are a noble people who have fought together under the Union flag..." Yes, division is wrong - but sovereign Nations needn't be divided. We can belong to a British confederation of free and equal partners.

Once we have Nationalism in practice - what need to be ruled from Westminster? It doesn't make sense... that would lead back to betrayal, State rule and the central, suffocating power of oligarchy, with a potential backdoor to Freemasonry and all its associated evils.

Becoming a federation of free Nations most certainly does not mean handing over power to the European Union (as some claim) - for what is the sense of resisting Westminster rule - with its private firm, the 'Bank of England' - to hand over our lands to Brussels rule with its private firm running the central European bank. This is something, for example, that the Welsh Distributist Movement (WDM) started campaigning on in the early 1990s (and is still doing today).

A fortunate survivor of one of the 'Brothers wars' - fought for international finance - returns home, under the State flag used by Zionists to send 'patriots' to their deaths... Others weren't so lucky.

RACE, CULTURE, TRADITION & LANGUAGE: THESE AND MUCH MORE MAKE UP A NATION.

This is the fact that the so-called Nationalists of Plaid Cymru and the Scottish National Party have completely overlooked in their rush to be 'relevant' and 'electable'. Talk about jumping out of the frying pan and into the fire!

Of course, the early Plaid Cymru and SNP were very different from today's liberal multi-racial mess. Plaid Cymru was founded by Saunders Lewis a radical "Anti-Semite" and Nationalist who was very much inspired by Maurras' Action Francaise and the English Distributists. He has been condemned by the modern Plaid trendies in their rush to secure middle class and Asian votes, and in their effort to woo the Zionist media.

Alex Salmond, leader of the SNP, was once thrown out of the SNP for his soppy socialism... how different is today's EU friendly, lefty Asian-vote catching SNP.

However, there remain segments of 'traditionalists' within Plaid and the SNP - some of whom are very friendly to the Third Position.

A NON-ARGUMENT

Those Westminster Nationalists who use Plaid/SNP 'trendy lefties' as an argument against the 'Family of Nations' idea could just as well discount their own beliefs when they witness Tony Blair's use of the Union Jack in Labour Party propaganda or when an Asian Tory flies the Union Jack at conference time, or when they recall Winston Churchill's British jingoism, used as a means to get the British peoples to fight a fratricidal war with Germany for the interests of international finance.

As Race is one of the present trendy devolutionists' pet hates and as most of these islands are made up of Anglo-Celtic racial stock - hey! There's the argument for the United Kingdom. We're all one Race, ipso facto one Nation...

WRONG! A Nation is so much more than a common racial group. A Nation is comprised of Race, yes, but much, much more than that. History, heritage, language, culture - all these things and a lot more go into making up a Nation.

Why else were the Westminster Patriots of old so keen to destroy the Welsh language? Why else were the Westminster Patriots so keen to destroy the Scottish Clan structure and the customs and culture of the Highlands? Why else were the Westminster Patriots so keen to deny English nationality and replace it with this blanket Britishness? And let's be honest - the Westminster "Patriots" were/are English, Welsh, Scots and everyone else who is loyal to the Westminster State.

We can easily overturn the "common Race" argument - even if we discount all the other ingredients that go to make up a Nation.

THE 'ONE RACE' ARGUMENT

So, all the peoples of these isles are one Race. Then why stop there? The peoples of France, Germany, Scandinavia, the Netherlands, Switzerland and everywhere else in Western/Northern Europe is of the same Racial type, by and large... so surely if Race is the only common factor - we should have one huge Nation covering all these former "divisive" Nations of old... a sort of European Union - now there's an idea (I wonder why nobody thought of it before...). However, (like ourselves) the Westminster Patriots are against the European Union, so their "One Race = One Nation" argument doesn't seem to hold true.

And what about those 'British' Nationalists who travel to Diksmuide every year to show solidarity with our Flemish Comrades? Belgium is a State. The Flemish and Walloons are of the same Race. The Belgians have a Royal Family. Many have fought and died together under the Belgian flag... So let's hear it for a united Belgium! (So say the Freemason politicians in Belgium!) No? Why not? These are the very same arguments used by Westminster Nationalists for preserving the 'United Kingdom'. Or what about the Soviet Union? The same Race fighting under the Hammer and Sickle - what need for the Ukraine, Russia, Lithuania etc.? Surely these Nations are just divisive and cause conflicts? That's what Zionist stooges like Zhirinovsky would have us believe!

REAL NATIONALISM

At the end of the day it boils down to whether you are a real Nationalist - loving your Nation, your Race, your language, your culture, your heritage, your traditions etc. - and respecting your fellow British/European neighbours. Or a defender of the British State clinging to an old regime whose basis was the rule of the peoples of these isles by the sword and taxes, whose sole reason to exist was to give power and prestige to the Westminster regime and its power elite.

The whole edifice is up to its neck in Freemasonry, jobs for the (public school tie brigade) boys and is protected by the secret political police and its army which does whatever it's paid to do (remember that not so long ago it was shooting at the people of Wales, Scotland, Ireland AND England and that it will rush to the defence of Israel whenever it is told).

Some have used the example of 'Rourke's Drift' with the Welsh troops, English officers, and various attachments from the other British Nations and South Africa, all fighting the Zulus under the Union Flag. What a proud tradition! Oh indeed... This same "proud tradition" carved up South Africa for the arch-Capitalist Rhodes and later fought the Boers and put their women and children in concentration camps! So don't spout off about "proud traditions" - as all it amounts to is sacrificing the men of these isles (and murdering our Boer cousins), for international finance and freemasonry - something the Union Jack has long stood for!

It is no accident that the people who flock to defend this 'United Kingdom' and its flag are the same ones who give credence to the Westminster Parliament by standing people to become MPs in the 'House of Treason', along with all the corrupt and degenerate flotsam who are bought up by the Freemasons, banks, big business and the trade unions. (Indeed, most of them seem to have learned quickly, from their politician role models, that principles can be bought and sold if the price is right - e.g. the would-be rulers of the British establishment standing for election to the European Parliament; defending the upper class's Blood Sports; toning down

Mrs. Thatcher, the darling of many right-wingers, is also a Westminster patriot. She recently attacked British Airways for changing its plane logo from the traditional 'Union Jack' design. God Save the Queen!

ENGLISH ROSE

ENGLISH ROSE ARE the grandpa's of English R.A.C., so before they head off into the horizon, zimmer frame's and bus passes in hand, FC has grabbed their wandering attention before Parkinson's disease set in fully...

1. Tell us about the background of English Rose?

ER: The band was formed back in 1987 so we've been together over 10 years now. There have been so many line-up changes over the years. It would take too long to list them. Keeping a steady line-up has always been a problem as it is in a lot of White Power bands, but we've always managed to carry on (a bit like Norwich City - Ed).

2. Are you confident with the new line-up of ER?

ER: The latest line-up is: Jonesy - Vocals; Dirk - Guitar; David - Drums; Stinko - Bass.

Our bass player 'Stinko' was only a stand-in until we found someone else, but he fitted in so well he decided to help us out full time. Sadly he's had to give up playing for a while due to serious illness, but we're hoping he'll be back. Until then, we're once again out of action - unless there's a bass player out there who thinks he'll fit in?

3. You've just released the new 'DREAMS OF FREEDOM' CD (available from FC - Ed). Tell us a bit about that.

ER: We recorded 'Dreams of Freedom' at the end of 97 and released it on our own label. There are 12 songs on it, 11 of them ours and the other was written by Ian Stuart but never recorded. It's probably our best material yet and is a cross section of oi, punk, rock and maybe a little ballad? We were hoping to promote it with live gigs but that's difficult at the moment. But as soon as we get the chance we will.

4. As we touched on in the last FC, the Nationalist music scene in Britain has had its problems. How do you see things shaping up for the future - not just for ER, but for the various bands around?

ER: The scene has been a total mess for a few years now due to a few individuals together with people's small brains, but it's looking brighter. Things are slowly changing. Publications are now looking more positive in promoting the music and politics instead of petty slagging off. People from "the two sides" are at last getting together to talk and try to work things out. There is still some way to go, but there is hope.

5. More bands seem to be releasing their own material and becoming more independent - do you think this is a good thing?

ER: Yes. It should have happened years ago. The likes of 'Skrewdriver', 'No Remorse' and 'Brutal Attack' should have been doing it in the 80s. It would have created money for the bands to support themselves with new equipment etc. and they could have pumped some profit back into the scene. This would also have shown new bands the way forward. At the end of the day the band does all the hard work practising, travelling the country, playing gigs, getting raided and smeared in the press - so why should a record company reap the rewards? The band should have full control in our opinion, then donate or contribute the money where they see fit.

6. What do you say to the people who attend the concerts, buy CDs etc. but aren't politically active? Should 'the cause' welcome such people, or demand they 'pull their fingers out'?

ER: We all have a different role to play in the cause. Some of us decide to form bands. Some decide to write magazines. Some organise gigs. Some attend gigs. Some just buy CDs and shirts. But we all support the White Power scene because in our own way trust for political parties and leaders has been poor for years because trust has broken down for one reason or another. But I think it's got to that stage now, when we've all got to give our support to the political organisations if we want to further our cause. The music scene is a positive voice and brings in support, but we're never going to break into the mainstream. Political organisations are getting the cause of White survival out the the British people, so let's help them. What have we got to lose?

7. ER have been around for more years now than I'm sure you'd care to remember. You've done CDs, concerts, interviews etc. Where do you go from here?

ER: We'll carry on producing our music and contributing to the cause. We'll promote gigs and keep doing our bit for the scene. Where possible we'll help other bands and we'll also help any political organisations who are working in a positive way for the cause.

8. Without breaking any laws, who do you think is the ugliest person in the world (excluding members of Celtic Warrior)?

ER: There are lots of people who could fall into this category, including our drummer. The list could go on forever.

9. Tony Blair... New Britain... New Opportunities... Your comment?

ER: Just another sell out of the British people. Just puppets of America, puppets of the J##s. A different party in power, same old story. Rip off the White, Working Class and more promotion of stinking multi-culturalism. It's about time for Britain to awake!

10. Is there anything else to add?

ER: Thanks for giving us the chance to say our bit. All the best for the magazine in the future and keep fighting. To all the readers out there... 'Think positive and fight our real enemies, or the future will get darker'.

"Publications are now looking more positive in promoting the music and politics."
- Jonesy, English Rose.

SOUTHERN HERITAGE

FROM THE BEGINNING of the seventeenth century to 1865 the Southland developed into a nation within a nation. The pioneers of that day developed an agrarian lifestyle that made cotton, king of their lives. They carved their homesteads out of the wilderness and fought Indians, the elements, and the gradual loss of their state's rights. The Lincoln Leviathan taxed the South into a tyrannical depression. After the "Tariff of Abomination" South Carolina seceded from the Union. Secession was not new, the Union was the result of the secession from England. Eleven state legislatures and the populous body of two other states seceded from the Union in spring of 1861.

STATE RIGHTS

The war was not started over slavery, but the right of a state to secede from the Union. Lincoln did not even issue the Emancipation Proclamation until 1862. This did not free all the slaves, only the ones in the states who would not come back into the union. Four dreadful years later in 1865 the South admitted defeat to the conventional warfare at the time. The United States declared victory over the Southland and established marshal law over the Southland. This is the order of military rule over the people, instead of their original Constitutional government. This brought on the era of Reconstruction.

SETTLERS

Around the beginning of the eighteenth century settlers mainly from Scotland and Ireland started moving into the Mississippi Territory through the Lower Federal Road that President Jefferson had built from middle Georgia to New Orleans. This road barely more than a cut trail through the wilderness in the beginning, developed into one of the major travelling arteries in the South. It was about this time that my great-great-great-great grandfather and his family moved into what is known as lower Alabama today. They settled in the forks of the Alabama and Tombigbee rivers. From this time to 1861 they were part of the history that is known around the world as the greatest growth development of the United States.

A lot of these settlers came to this wilderness looking for a place to worship God in their own way. My ancestors were part of this movement and left Scotland as Covenantors. A religious belief that believed that they were the descendants of Abraham and were destined to fulfil this prophesy. Manifest Destiny took over in a big way in these people. Slavery was not established by these people it was already in place. Slaves were brought to the US and other parts of the world mainly by English, Dutch and Portuguese ships.

Not one, not one slave was brought to America under any Confederate Flags. Only one in four Southerners owned slaves and then eight out of ten of them owned less than six slaves. The biggest slave holders were the large plantation owners and many of them were owned by Northerners. So a question I propose to my readers is if seventy-five per-cent of these Southerners did not own a slave, what did they fight on the side of the Confederacy for?

Slave owners served in the Confederate armies, but also in the Union armies of 1861-65 and in the Revolutionary War armies of 1775-83 as well as the US armies of the War of 1812 and the Mexican War.

UNJUST TARIFF

During this time the US Congress passed a tariff on all imported goods into the Southland. This tariff reached a height of twenty-eight per-cent. The South being of agrarian roots and life style did not have the manufacturing base that the north had, but the north had a problem with European Nations selling their goods to the Southland cheaper than the northern New England manufactures could. So Congress reacted with a tariff that the South had to pay to get these manufactured goods, which they could not produce.

THE WAR OF NORTHERN AGGRESSION

The South reacted by telling the Northerners that if this persisted and they did not get relief, that they would pull out of the Union. And that is just what they had to do. Slavery had absolutely nothing to do with the starting of the "Civil War" of 1861 in the United States.

We here in the South would rather call the war by other names: War of Northern Aggression, War of Southern Independence, War between the States or anything else besides the "Civil War". A civil war is a war among the people of a country who do not agree on some matter between the people. This war was a war between the states of a country who thought that one group of states could tell another how to live their lives in that state. Our Constitution here in this country lost its potency at this time in our history. Our Constitution today does not stand for what it stood for prior to this conflict.

ZIONIST LIES

In conclusion this story of Southern Heritage being of hate for another Race, by the lies that Babylon (Zionist power - Ed.) puts out to destroy a nation of Christian people is genocide. 99% of what these people believed in was a noble cause. Slavery was a way of life in the world at that time and to condemn just this nation of people for it, is evil and unjust. We, the descendants of these noble people, have drawn the line in the sand and we are not going to take these lies that they perpetrate against our people any more. We intend to let the world know the truth. The same socialist thinkers of that day, exist today in the scheme to perpetrate a one world government on all of us. I say no, and I intend to stand my ground against it with whatever available means I can muster.

FINAL CONFLICT

SOUTHERN PATRIOTS RALLY TO DEFEND THE DIXIE FLAG

COUNTER POWER - SOME IDEAS

SO FAR THE Counter Power idea has taken form in a way most of us, five years ago, could only have dreamed of. Those of us used to the set-backs and disappointments of the Nationalist Movement of the past 20 years can barely believe that today we have a growing network of businesses, social projects, services, crafts etc. covering many regions of England, and spreading to more European countries.

However, for this writer there has been a distinct difference between the initiatives in this country and abroad. Our Comrades in Italy, Slovakia, Romania, Lithuania, South America etc. have started their own initiatives, either off their own backs or after witnessing the advances made by the Movement in England. Other initiatives - notably the French 'News From Somewhere' Farm project and the Spanish Village project have been undertaken with a good part of the driving force coming from Comrades in these isles.

These Counter Power initiatives (with others developing) have evolved around social structures, with Comrades buying properties, renovating them, and promoting self-sufficiency, Guilds, traditional farming methods, small businesses etc. within and around the regions of the projects.

Whilst some of the Counter Power businesses in England have a social aspect (linking in with community action etc.) and bring comrades together (via employment, promoting co-operatives etc.) there aren't any with the direct involvement of families to the extent of those in France and Spain.

I think the time has come for the Movement, in these isles, to move onto this phase. This would involve a few families buying properties in a rural area - preferably families with skills, or where the 'bread winner' can work from home. There are still sizeable properties in the 'Celtic fringe' that can be bought for under £30,000 that provide accommodation for a large family and enough land for recreation, cultivation etc.

The families could be within five miles of the nearest 'Nationalist' neighbour - so that they're not living in each other's pockets, something which can create friction even in the best of circumstances.

We already have pockets of activists targeting specific 'key areas' in urban England - so far with good results; whether in terms of recruitment of militants or in terms of social initiatives.

A few regions targeted in the way outlined above would move the Movement into new pastures in these isles. One or two families could be of 'hard-core' militants, with others of sympathisers. Counter Power businesses could easily be started in small towns in the regions picked, to supply work and a base for campaigns - this we've already proved in urban areas.

As the rural voice strengthens and despondency with Westminster rule grows, just one such rural project in England, Scotland or Wales would have a good chance of winning support via localised campaigns against Westminster and Brussels and promoting English, Scottish or Welsh Nationalism.

We've done it in France and Spain - let's do it here too! It wouldn't cost the Movement a bean, as the families involved would be buying their own properties and renovating their own properties (not that there need be much renovation - it depends on the needs of the families involved). At the end of the day, each family would have their own property, which - even if things turned sour - they could sell on without loss.

Now is the time for us to turn our attentions to this sphere of the Counter Power. Not to do so would be a case of looking a gift horse in the mouth. Interested? Write in to FC - or talk to a TP organiser.

THE REVIEWS PAGES

LITERATURE

THE THIRD POSITION HANDBOOK. 1997, the Third Position. (Available for £2.30 inc. postage from FC - £2.50 from Europe, £3 elsewhere).

This is a very timely booklet, setting the scene for Nationalist militants and supporters as to why the Third Position exists, its historical setting ('the Legionary Model'), its ideology, the reasons for Counter Power, the new Squad structure, security and basic pointers for what everyone can do.

As one supporter said, after reading it, this booklet is revolutionary and will make people in the Third Position realise why they are active. It will make those not in the Third Position realise they have made a terrible error.

The new Squad structure is gone through very thoroughly so as to leave no doubts as to who should be doing what. If implemented

ALLIED PUBLICATIONS

THE FOLLOWING publications form part of the growing Third Position, Nationalist 'fight back'. They cover a wide range of styles and are far from 'uniform' in outlook and coverage, so please support as many of them as possible:

THE ANVIL, BCM ITP, London, WC1N 3XX. This comes out three times a year in support of the National Students' Guild. Subscribe: £3 p.a. Cheques to 'TPFF'.

CANDOUR, Forest House, Liss Forest, Hants., GU33 7DD. Published monthly (and weekly for a while) since the 1950's, Candour is an institution amongst Nationalists. A year's subscription costs £15, £20 overseas. Cheques to the 'A.K. Chesterton Trust'. Candour also sells back issues, books etc.

ENGLANDER, BM 1326, London, WC1N 3XX. Published monthly, Englander features news from around the country and Nationalist views on current affairs. For a subscription, send 3 2nd class stamps for every issue required.

GAZETA DE VEST, BCM ITP, London, WC1N 3XX. The quarterly booklet-size English language journal of the Romanian Legionary movement. A year's subscription costs £8. (£10 overseas) Cheques payable to 'TPFF'.

NATIONAL FREEDOM, BM Crackle, London, WC1N 3XX. This is a quarterly full-colour journal which tends to go more for in depth features and reviews, but also has a world news section. A sub is £6. Cheques payable to 'National Freedom'.

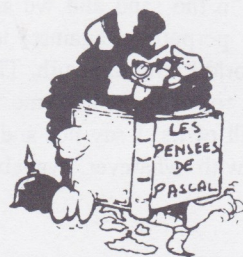

THE VOICE OF ST. GEORGE, BCM ITP, London, WC1N 3XX. Published bi-monthly, this is the street paper of the Third Position and features news, TP activities etc. A 12 issue subscription costs £8.50 (£10 overseas) for which you get two copies of each issue. Cheques to 'TPFF'.

OTHER OUTLETS:

FREEDOM VIDEOS, Box 1, Forest House, Liss Forest, Hants, GU33 7DD. FV sell a wide range of videos to suit all Nationalists. For a catalogue, send 3 second class stamps.

LEGIONARY BOOKS, BCM ITP, London, WC1N 3XX. LB is the TP's official book outlet. Send 2 second class stamps for a full list.

LEGION TAPES, BCM 6358, London, WC1N 3XX. LT sell a huge assortment of tapes, from official TP political tapes, to revisionism, to music and stories. Send 2 second class stamps for their comprehensive new list.

thoroughly, this new structure will reap huge results, not only in the number of new activists, or the amount of propaganda put out, or the diversity of initiatives and structures started by Squads around the country, but most importantly, in the sheer quality of militants within and attracted to the Movement.

The key word here is thoroughly.

This brings the responsibility down to the national organisers and the Squad leaders to get their acts together and ensure everything is carried through - to the letter in all areas, as I'm sure it will be (if it hasn't already).

With this structure in place, new militants will be impressed with our professionalism. What we must ensure is that no new militant joins something that is a Squad in name, but an old branch-type structure in reality, for then we'll have followed the old path that Nationalists have followed for too long in this country - saying good and radical things, but failing to put them into practice.

For even if one person joins in Berwick-upon-Tweed and finds the Squad there is a travesty, then that new person, full of the vim and vigour of a new activist, will feel betrayed by a Movement that fails to 'put its money where its mouth is' - like so many others!

Anyway, to get back to the booklet, this is an excellent read and should be read by supporters too (it is required reading for all activists), for only then will they realise that they are part of a Movement that is intelligent, growing and on the road to victory.

A HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES by Cecil Chesterton, 1943 Everyman edition.

Cecil was the younger brother of G.K. Chesterton. In spite of the editor finding fault with the book (there are a few), it is worth reading the book for the chapter on Slavery alone. The US was divided into Slave States and 'Free' States. So when California joined the Union, they had to become a Slave or 'Free' State. They excluded slavery. But as Cecil says: "There was nothing sentimentally negrophile about..." this "...They proclaimed an exceedingly sensible policy in simple formula: 'No Niggers, Slave or Free!'" ①

When the North 'freed' the slaves, they in fact sold the slaves to people in the South. "What, asked the Southerners, 'could exceed the effrontery of men who reproach us with grave personal sin in owning property which they themselves have sold us and the price of which is at this moment in their pockets?'" ②

Even in the North things did not always go well for the abolitionists. "They were often mobbed and their meetings broken up. In Illinois, a Northern state, one of them, Lovejoy, was murdered by the crowd." (and why not?) ③

John Brown, "was certainly mad. He not only murdered Southern immigrants (whites) without provocation, but savagely mutilated their bodies." ④

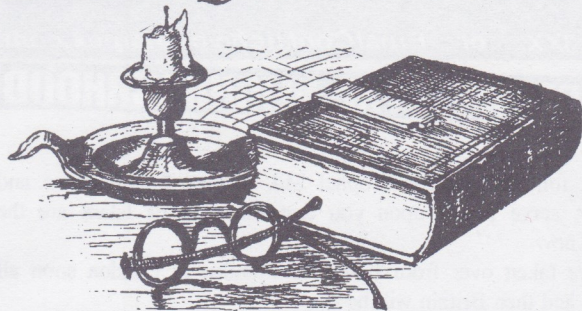

I doubt that any of today's 'historians' would write a book like this. If you can find a copy, buy it. When your children are 13 or 14 you will need this book for home schooling history lessons (the chapter on slavery is only 29 pages of this 350 page book).

Quotes: ① page 135. ② page 147. ③ page 149. ④ page 158.

Post Script: Another interesting aspect of this book is the struggle between General Andrew Jackson - 'Old Hickory' - the frontiersman and President of the United States; and the first United States Bank.

The Bank was set up by the Federalist Alexander Hamilton who wanted to create an oligarchy at the head of the United States. "The Bank was immensely powerful and thoroughly unpopular", "...it was hated by the people, and it soon appeared that it was hated as bitterly by the President." [pages 111-112]. Indeed, he considered it "more formidable and more dangerous than the naval and military power of an enemy" [page 113].

Study & ACTION

When Jackson attacked the Bank, it pulled in all its pawns and most of the representatives and bureaucrats were in favour of the Bank. The elections of 1832 came in the midst of this fight and the people roundly condemned the 'Whigs' who favoured the Bank and then Jackson acted, removing the public deposits from the Bank and handing them back to the States. The Bank's charter lapsed and it was wound up a few years later "amid a reek of scandal" [page 116]

Jackson did all this against absolutely incredible odds. All the system was against him. His cabinet was against him, almost entirely. Newspapers were bought and sold by favourable loans from the Bank and the small fry of politics were firmly in the Bank's pocket. It's a story we can all relate to today.

The big difference between then and now was that Jackson wasn't cut off from "the people". He was foremost a Nationalist who loved his new, young country (he'd defended it often enough on the frontier) and he had the guts to see that the Bank was an evil presence and furthermore to do something about it, against the odds. I can't see Tony Blair doing that....

MUSIC

IMPORTANT NOTICE: We can't review your CD if we don't get it. Bands and record companies should sent their new CDs into FC if they want them reviewed. We're not psychics...

FIELDS OF GLORY by No Quarter. ♦ "Who are these righteous dudes?" I hear you ask. And I will answer: Billy (he of the short hair) and Lyndon (he of the long hair) from Celtic Warrior. And 'hot diggity dawg' what a little gem they've put together...

Billy sings on a couple of the tunes - but most have Lyndon at the helm ... and I think it'll be a pleasant surprise for most of you.

It opens with 'Berserker', a real hot number with Billy belting out the old vocal chords and some really nifty guitar riffs. If this one doesn't get you bouncing off the settee and swinging on the chandelier (ok, light shade) like a modern day Robin Hood, then nothing will. Billy returns later on to give a lively rendition of Skrewdriver's 'Mr. 9 to 5' (and one other song - see next paragraph). The other songs have Mr. Lyndon esquire singing. The tunes are somewhat reminiscent of Rainbow of the early 80's, a sort of tuneful, singalongish Heavy Metal. Very moreish indeed.

'MORE WORKING CLASS ANTHEMS'

- a volume of oi classics from 1995. Inc. Pressure 28, Boisterous, (Frankie Boy Flame's) Super Yob and Section 5. Available now on LP from FC for just £10 inc. p&p - £11 outside Europe.

It's difficult to pick a best song amongst all the scrummy offerings such as 'One of the Boys' and 'Turn up the Night' on this CD, but how about 'Gods of War' which is sung by Billy, but with Lyndon joining in some of the bits, including the punchy chorus. As with most of the songs the guitarwork is excellent. It all finishes with 'Fields of Glory' a superb acoustic ballad about needless wars. So, remember, if your mum asks what CDs you want for your birthday, keep this one high on your list (After "Extremist"). ☺☺☺☺☺

KEEP IT WHITE VOL 2 by Various Artists. ♦ Another good compilation CD. It starts off with 4 songs by Konkwista 88 in English, followed by more gems by Blue Eyed Devils, Razors Edge, Celtic Warrior and The Order. The only non-English songs on the CD are by AEG (German) and Excalibur (Czech), who do a cover of Skrewdriver's 'Free My Land'. Loads of good songs. ☺☺☺☺☺

VITAZSTVO ALEBO SMRT by Biely Odpor. This is Slovak WP - and it's a sort of Oi/Thrash mix. They thoughtfully provide lyrics in English. How's this for grooviness: "The noise of monkeys will disappear forever" ('The Music of Your Conscience'). Available from: Victory Records, PO Box 65, 99001 Velky Krtis, Slovakia, for £10 ($18 US or 20DM). ☺☺☺☺½

THE MEN OF "POWER" by Secret Resistance. ♦ This was the first I'd heard of this Hungarian band. To be honest I was expecting something amateurish - I was totally wrong. As the record company Nordisc say, back in 1995 Pure Impact fanzine described Titkolt Ellenallas (Secret Resistance) as "fast RAC with a definite hardcore influence". The quality of this CD is second-to-none. English lyrics are provided in the booklet so you have no excuse for not splashing out on this CD. ☺☺☺☺☺

THE GOOD OLD SOUTH. 28 Racist sing-a-longs. You'll know what to expect... Available from MSR (see below). ☺☺☺

MORE EVIL THAN A HOLLYWOOD JEW by Lightning Rod. U.S. punk outfit. 23 songs - but the quality is poor. More like a send-up of WP music than the real thing. Available from: MSR prod., PO Box 1291, Wheat Ridge, Co. 80034-1291, USA. ☺

OUR HONOUR IS TRUE by Avalon. ♦ RAC music returns to its roots with this skinhead rock classic. It opens with the brilliant title track - Ranting Ron says thanks for the mention ("Teutonic Warrior"). The songs come thick n fast on this no-nonsense Nationalist CD. 'England is My Rose' speaks for itself and 'Whose Education?' is a corker about the holohoax®. Good stuff from a promising band. (Look out for CD #2 'This is War') ☺☺☺☺½

DREAMS OF FREEDOM by English Rose. ♦ ER's latest CD -and what a treat. ER's usual polished style, with a few more groovy guitar bits popped in for good luck making it a slightly heavier Oi sound - but not as heavy as some of the metal monsters out there! Best song - what about 'You Won't Get My Vote' with "Politicians - deserve a bullet or a good strong rope." This CD gets my vote (hey smarmy links - I could get a job with Radio One) ☺☺☺☺½

All CDs marked '♦' are available from FC for £11 plus postage.

CONCERT

Saturday 21/2/98 saw Violent, Avalon, Razors Edge, The Legion of St. George and Warlord play to an enthusiastic crowd in Coventry. Violent were a bit rough - it being their first gig, but all the other bands played blinding sets. Whilst each of the bands did well - especially Warlord who had the whole place bouncing about with their own material and some classic Skrewdriver covers - The Legion of St. George stood out as a band that have come on in leaps and bounds. All in all, it was a very enjoyable night.

Saturday 14/3/98 and all dudes were in the Midlands for the Violent Storm memorial concert. First up were White Law - their debut CD should be excellent. Next up were Celtic Warrior, who played all their classics like 'Let the Battle Begin', with Aussie Nigel on guitar. Squadron blasted through their set - only to stop for a minute's silence. Last up were Brutal Attack who played a real blinder with Ken jumping around everywhere. This was a really excellent gig.

POLITICAL SOLDIER

Dear FC,

I have just finished listening to Political Soldier volumes 1 & 2, the audio version of the booklets ('call to arms'...). It is a must for everyone, new or veterans, activists or supporters of the Third Position alike.

It doesn't matter who you are - you get a mention on this tape. It would also be ideal for Squad meetings, for education and discussion. You cannot go wrong, a double cassette set is only a fiver and may I say worth every penny. It's available from Legion Tapes for just £5,

T.A.

English Patriotic League.

Ed says: Cor blimey guvnor. How much did Legion Tapes pay you for writing this letter?

DEAR EDITOR...

Dear Sir,

I have written a letter to the local paper based on the anti-abortion article in FC (which I thought was very good) and a bit of the article about the population hoax. Basically I condensed the articles.

I have already had three published, based on local language/housing issues and the European Union. I feel that this is a good way to get issues across subtly one by one...

I think that holidays abroad are a good idea, which help the cause and international unity. I would like details...

[name supplied]

Cymru (Wales).

Ed says: This is a good idea that most people can do, especially sympathisers. Of course such letters don't advance the cause a great deal - but every little bit helps.

PAEDOPHILE BBC

Dear FC,

I never thought that I would see it in my lifetime, but the BBC has just shown a programme arguing for Paedophilia to be legalised! The show - The Heart of the Matter - pretended that it was a serious discussion about children's consent to underage sexual 'relationships' but it was no more than a thinly veiled green light for deviants. In support of the proposal was, not surprisingly, the faggot Peter Tatchell and Feminist writer Germaine Greer, both Australian immigrants. There were a couple of other non-entities supporting it, one from the leftie Times rag.

The Zionist media controllers have been pushing the idea for years that queers are normal, in recent years that drugs are really no more harmful than alcohol and now they have the damned nerve to try and pretend that destroying the lives of children is acceptable. Is there no limit to the EVILNESS of these scum?

A.A.,

Ayrshire, Scotland.

Ed says: This has been on the cards for quite some time. The faggots, after their 'age of consent' victory are now jostling for sex at any age... The consequence will be the complete collapse of morality and society. The forces allied to the faggots, include those liberals who want to introduce "sex education" into primary schools - ignoring the fact that since promiscuity has become the norm and sex education was introduced, so standards have plummeted, and the numbers of single mums and abortions rocketed.

KING BILLY? OR WHITE POWER?

Comrades - my eldest keeps asking for oranges, but it sounds like 'Odin'. Does this mean he'll march around like King Billy? Or sing in a skinhead combo?

Baz, London.

THERE GOES THE NEIGHBOURHOOD

Salaam Aleicham,

We the followers of the Prophet Md. blessed be his name and memory, serve notice upon you that the sons of Islam are the masters now.

We have taken over from Ealing to Camden in London soon all London and then Britain will be ours.

We are arriving every day. Our Mosques, power are everywhere. You the infidel can get out or join with us.

In the name of Allah who is great.

[unsigned].

Ed says: we apologise for the grammar in this. It arrived in a right 'blinking' mess. Contrary to what lefties and Mossad-agents will tell you, this is a genuine letter. So, when it comes to the 'Asian Invasion', don't take our word for it - take theirs!

EURO-ELECTIONS: POOH

Dear Sir,

the Euro elections are not, in fact, this year as stated in your editorial (issue 17), but next year. This is good news indeed, for lots less money will be wasted in this year of no major elections, but the result for the "nationalists" who fight elections will be the same... ZERO!

B. Boggins,

Little Wantage.

P.S. In #17, only 12% of the people in the photos were saluting. Does this mean the other 88% are not Comrades, or does the '88' make up for this?

Ed says: Well, that just goes to show how little we care for the Euro Elections - we don't even know when they are... But it will be interesting to see the pseudo-politicians, in their smart suits and ties, justify this one. The verbal gymnastics will be secondary only to the huge amounts of cash thrown away. Let the good times roll...

By the way, "Mr. Boggins" is in fact one of the infamous 'FC Munch Bunch' with a peculiar sense of humour.

IGNORANT AMERICANS?

Dear FC,

Here is my subscription renewal for FC. We get almost no real news from Europe over here, but the American people like to be kept in the dark. I don't believe the rest of the world realizes how ignorant the average American is. That is, unless it involves sports and money.

Keep up the good work,

C.G.,

York, Pa., USA.

E-MAIL'S JUST THE JOB!

Dear Comrades,

thank you for putting me on your e-mail list. They flutter in thick and fast and with devastating results. I download them when I am supposed to be working. Some make me laugh, some make me almost weep. Some are so scary (c.g. Issue 314 - 28/2/98 - "Federal Concentration Camps for Civilians" from the USA), that I would love the luxury of being able to shrug you off as a bunch of cranks.

Unfortunately that is not possible. I travel up and down our own country and sometimes abroad, and I see evidence of the depths of idiocy and depravity at every twist and turn.

The law of physics and of nature decrees that a pendulum swings to the utmost limits of its path and then it MUST swing back in the opposite direction. Let's hope we live long enough to watch it start on its return journey!

I.M.,

Hants., England.

THE RON AWARDS!

YES, THEY'RE BACK! By popular demand, and after bribes, warnings and death threats, your favourite Ron has decided that the Ranting Ron Awards should start up again.

THIS ISSUE'S GOODIE

Boy oh boy, what a groover we've got for this issue. The unnamed man was a security guard at Rackhams (House of Frazer) posh-knob store in Birmingham, where he approached two men ("baker Guy Davenport of Telford Shropshire and friend") and called them - wait for it - "a pair of faggots"! WHAYHAYHAY! Give the man a ten tonne medal!

Of course he lost his job over the affair, as Rackhams gave in to the poofs in a cowardly fashion, but this leaves just one question. How did the mysterious, heroic security guard know "Mr." Davenport and his chum were faggots - for faggots they are (though the Sunday Mercury said: "Both are homosexual but are not partners" yuch!). Obviously their dress (literally! ha ha!) or their behaviour gave them away... In front of children too - the security guard clearly felt honour bound to step in. Congrats to a man not swayed by the trendy opinions of Fleet Street.

If anyone can trace the security guard in question, Ron would like to send him a free T-Shirt and offer him work in Birmingham. 10/10 for heroism.

THIS ISSUE'S BADDIES

They've been mentioned before in FC, but here goes again. Loan sharks practise usury, just like the high street banks. Everyone hates them - but the national papers insist on printing their adverts. It's about time a campaign was launched against the 'sharks' and the dailies for running their ads.

Anyway, here's some useful FREEPOST loan shark addresses: FREEPOST NORTON FINANCE, 149 Wellgate, Rotherham, S. Yorks., S60 2BR. Lloyds Bowmaker Ltd, Waverley House, FREEPOST, Bournemouth, BH8 8BR. Ocean Finance, Marlborough House, St. John St., FREEPOST, WV 1873, Lichfield, WS13 6BA. (More in the daily papers)

K. B. of Texas says: "Dear Ron, Enc. is a rendition of yourself, better than the ones I saw recently in FC." Ron says: Can anyone better this? Send your efforts into me.

WOT - NO IDEOLOGY?

ON READING THE 'TP Handbook' (£2.30 from FC, oops a blatant plug) I was initially surprised to see the chapter on ideology and the need of it in the Movement. "That's obvious" thinks your favourite Ron - but, aha! Is it?

The chapter takes the line that to most people in society, ideology (of any sort) means nothing; hence the society of self-interested consumers we see around us.

On reading a recent newspaper article though I almost choked on my pork pie! The leader of the Italian Alleanza Nazionale (AN) - one of the new designer 'Nationalist' movements alongside the French FN and the Austrian Freedom Party (and maybe... some a little closer to home) - said "We have had enough of ideology. We need action, not words." Someone should point out to Mr. Fini that action without ideology is meaningless (like so many Blair soundbytes).

Fini's aides say that he hopes to visit Israel to "atone" for "Fascist wartime persecution of the Jews" (pass the sick bucket Alessandro!).

Alberto Giorgetti, head of the AN in Verona says that since the demise of the 'Christian Democrats', "...the centre ground has been unoccupied. We intend to fill it".

We are witnessing the craziness that follows the wholehearted headlong plunge into party politics - the world hitherto reserved for traitors and criminals.

When one considers the money donated to Le Pen by the World Jewish Congress and his invitation to Britain by the Zionist Tory politician Sherman and the crocodile tears shed by Haider (of the Austrian Freedom Party) at holocaust™ memorials, like some latter day Margaret Thatcher, and now the money due to be poured away as 'Nationalists' fight for seats to that den of iniquity, the European Parliament... Why don't they stand someone for the board of the Bank of England? I'm sure if enough suits and ties are worn and the message 'softened' sufficiently a rich Zionist backer could be found (like Goldsmith the Arch-Zionist - they can sell his books too)...

This is getting too much like Orwell's Animal Farm. The pigs are making themselves into humans... (but this time, even before their "victory") so that even if "victory" is achieved, who will know the difference?

And for those who don't doubt that victory is possible via Westminster's corridors - I suggest reading 'The Party System' by H. Belloc and C. Chesterton (available from FC for £5.50 - oops, another plug).
